SCRIPTURE

“Two things I ask of you, LORD; do not refuse me before I die: Keep falsehood and lies far from me; give me neither poverty nor riches, but give me only my daily bread. Otherwise, I may have too much and disown you and say, ‘Who is the LORD?’ Or I may become poor and steal, and so dishonor the name of my God.”

— Proverbs 30: 7-9

CONTENT

The wisdom writer of Proverbs asked God for two things:

1. To keep falsehood and lies away
2. To have neither poverty nor riches

Honesty is the foundation to a healthy life. The moment lies creep into our lives we experience hardships.

No one wishes for poverty, and the request “to not have riches” seems odd at first glance.

Riches expand well beyond just money.

You may be rich in intelligence, beauty, athleticism, career growth, or even pastoral growth.

Every high in life is accompanied with a warning.

Top athletes may have arrogance, and beauty queens may have consuming pride.

God never says that riches are inherently bad.

The great danger comes once you start striving for the riches and making it an idol in your life.

Both riches and poverty can be hard.

We should hope for moderation as that is when God seems the clearest to us.

However, God may call us to hardship in poverty and we must know that God will bless us or He may raise us to riches in which instance we must remember His grace and power.

The key is to find peace in the place you are called.
